

Good day!

My name is Australopithecus Garhi, and I am on the hominins. I was known to have longer femurs, which aided me in walking upright much more. I am not the most documented species, on account of the fact that I am based on skull fragments that were found. I had large molars, and might have eaten meat more consistently. I used some stone tools in my life as well. Make sure to check the other hominins out as well!
